DISCLOSURE REGARDING CHRONIC WASTE DISEASE

Information Regarding Chronic Wasting Disease in Texas

From the Animal Health Commission and Texas Parks and Wildlife CWD Fact Sheet

http://tahc.state.tx.us/animal_health/cwd/cwd.html

WHAT IS CHRONIC WASTING DISEASE?

Chronic Wasting Disease (CWD) is a transmissible spongiform encephalopathy (TSE) affecting farmed and free-ranging deer, elk, and moose, in North America. The species known to be susceptible to CWD are North American Elk or Wapiti, Red Deer, Mule Deer, Black-Tailed Deer, White-Tailed Deer, Sika Deer, and Moose as well as hybrids of these species.

The disease was first recognized in 1967 in captive mule deer in Colorado. CWD has also been documented in captive and/or free-ranging deer in 23 states and 2 Canadian provinces. CWD among cervids is a progressive, fatal disease that commonly results in altered behavior as a result of microscopic changes made to the brain of affected animals. An Animal may carry the disease for years without outward indication, but in the latter stages, signs may include listlessness, lowering of the head, weight loss, repetitive walking in set patterns, and a lack of responsiveness. To date there are no evidence that CWD poses a risk to humans or non-cervids. However, as a precaution, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and the World Health Organization recommended not to consume meat from infected animals.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TPWD) and Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHC) are working cooperatively to address risks, develop management strategies, and protect resources from CWD in captive and free-ranging cervid populations from CWD. More information on CWD, including a summary of the new CWD rules can be found on the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department website at www.tpwd.texas.gov/CWD.

PLEASE NOTE: Recently, cases of CWD have been detected in Medina County, Texas, resulting in specific requirements regarding hunting and holding deer in Medina County, Texas. Information regarding the CWD issue in Medina County can also be found on the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department website.

Neither Bob Heyen Realty, it's owners, officers, employees nor any of its agents make any representations regarding the status of CWD on the property described in the document to which this Notice is attached (the "Property").

You should inform yourself regarding all aspects of CWD and how it might affect the use or value of the Property. It is recommended you take whatever measures necessary to satisfy yourself in regard to the condition of the deer or other members of the deer family or any other animals located on the Property and the land surrounding it. It is also recommended that you accompany any inspectors and experts of CWD during the inspections of the Property. You should ask questions and become knowledgeable about CWD and its affects.

INFORMATION REGARDING OAK WILT IN CENTRAL TEXAS

Texas A & M Forest Service – Oak Wilt: <https://tfsweb.tamu.edu/oakwiltfaq/>

Texas Oak Wilt: <https://texasoakwilt.org>

Oak Wilt/Decline is a disease that has long been recognized as causing tree loss in the Texas Hill Country. It is caused by a fungus call Ceratocystis fagacearum that clogs the water conduction vessels in 55 Texas Counties. Losses vary with location, with the greatest losses occurring in the Hill Country. A management program has been developed by the Research and Extension faculty at Texas A & M University. This program involves the use of cultural and chemical controls.

Live oak, Shumard red oak, Southern red oak, Spanish oak, blackjack oak, pin oak and water oak are native species that are susceptible to the oak wilt fungus. They are members of the red oak group and will normally die in a few weeks to months after symptoms are observed. Members of the white oak group, including Bur oaks, white oaks and post oaks, rarely become infected. They have a high level of resistance and, when infected, seldom die.

For more information, one may contact the local county Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Office (located under the government pages of a phone directory or by typing "Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Office + insert local county name here" into the search engine). Information About Brokerage Services

Texas law requires all real estate license holders to give the following information about brokerage services to prospective buyers, tenants, sellers and landlords.

TYPES OF REAL ESTATE LICENSE HOLDERS:

- A BROKER is responsible for all brokerage activities, including acts performed by sales agents sponsored by the broker.
- A SALES AGENT must be sponsored by a broker and works with clients on behalf of the broker.

A BROKER'S MINIMUM DUTIES REQUIRED BY LAW (A client is the person or party that the broker represents):

- Put the interests of the client above all others, including the broker's own interests;
- Inform the client of any material information about the property or transaction received by the broker;
- Answer the client's questions and present any offer to or counter-offer from the client; and
- Treat all parties to a real estate transaction honestly and fairly.

A LICENSE HOLDER CAN REPRESENT A PARTY IN A REAL ESTATE TRANSACTION:

AS AGENT FOR OWNER (SELLER/LANDLORD): The broker becomes the property owner's agent through an agreement with the owner, usually in a written listing to sell or property management agreement. An owner's agent must perform the broker's minimum duties above and must inform the owner of any material information about the property or transaction known by the agent, including information disclosed to the agent or subagent by the buyer or buyer's agent.

AS AGENT FOR BUYER/TENANT: The broker becomes the buyer/tenant's agent by agreeing to represent the buyer, usually through a written representation agreement. A buyer's agent must perform the broker's minimum duties above and must inform the buyer of any material information about the property or transaction known by the agent, including information disclosed to the agent by the seller or seller's agent.

AS AGENT FOR BOTH - INTERMEDIARY: To act as an intermediary between the parties the broker must first obtain the written agreement of each party to the transaction. The written agreement must state who will pay the broker and, in conspicuous bold or underlined print, set forth the broker's obligations as an intermediary. A broker who acts as an intermediary:

- Must treat all parties to the transaction impartially and fairly;
- May, with the parties' written consent, appoint a different license holder associated with the broker to each party (owner and buyer) to communicate with, provide opinions and advice to, and carry out the instructions of each party to the transaction.
- Must not, unless specifically authorized in writing to do so by the party, disclose:
 - that the owner will accept a price less than the written asking price;
 - that the buyer/tenant will pay a price greater than the price submitted in a written offer; and
 - any confidential information or any other information that a party specifically instructs the broker in writing not to disclose, unless required to do so by law.

AS SUBAGENT: A license holder acts as a subagent when aiding a buyer in a transaction without an agreement to represent the buyer. A subagent can assist the buyer but does not represent the buyer and must place the interests of the owner first.

TO AVOID DISPUTES, ALL AGREEMENTS BETWEEN YOU AND A BROKER SHOULD BE IN WRITING AND CLEARLY ESTABLISH:

- The broker's duties and responsibilities to you, and your obligations under the representation agreement.
- Who will pay the broker for services provided to you, when payment will be made and how the payment will be calculated.

LICENSE HOLDER CONTACT INFORMATION: This notice is being provided for information purposes. It does not create an obligation for you to use the broker's services. Please acknowledge receipt of this notice below and retain a copy for your records.
